Foreword

Herein, with consideration of care and aforethought, it hath been deemed proper by us to use as the theme of our book, the noble story of the wise King Arthur and his knights of the Table Round. 'Tis because, in that prospering time, ladies practised womanly grace and virtue in a high degree. We would, therefore, set them up as models, the type of which we have ever endeavoured to imitate.

We, whose privilege it hath been to be educated within the portals of Notre Dame have been singularly blest. Since the standards, the which we here have received, have been right lofty and most noble, so in turn, it seemeth fitting that we a high ideal should have. Forsooth, with this aim it is, we to the public present our Annual, with the hope that it may partially reflect the principles ever propounded to us in this our Alma Mater.

Our Bishop

Bishop Schrembs has repeatedly manifested his interest in us by his loving solicitude and friendliness, and it is therefore, with deepest sincerity that we, the student body of Notre Dame, wish to express the gratitude and affecton which we owe him as our Bishop and our friend. His zest, ability, and untiring energy have brought many to a better understanding of God, and hence to nobler and happier lives. For these, his efforts in behalf of his people, we shall ever remember him, and, in addition, we shall cherish the memories of the many pleasant hours during which he was in our midst.

Dedication

"How modest, kindly, all-accomplished, wise
With what sublime repression of himself,
And in what limits, and how tenderly."

Thus, in short, we do attempt to characterize the Reverend Carl E. Frey. He hath ever been a friend and confidant, good and true; moreover, he hath devoted a goodly part of his time to our instruction. Therefore, gratitude prompts us to dedicate to him the Tower of nineteen hundred twenty-six.

Views

"Infinite work which doth so far extend
That none can study it to any end."

Like Enid of another day, we a moment pause in awe and rapture to gaze on works of beauty nestled in our realm. What fair scenes to us unfold themselves through veils of mists—here a spot of nature's loveliness, sublimely placid, and there a specie of the skill of man! Was ever a domain more beauteous? Alas! the vision is all too short. Our admiring eye hath only begun to be appeased when other things needs must tear us from this away.

NOTRE DAME

Twilight at Notre Dame

Dim grew the light in the western sky,
And shadows went and came,
While twilight spread its silvery veil
O'er the towers of Notre Dame.

And gentle breezes called away,
A day of joys and cares,
When lo! through convent paths of peace
Echoed the chant of "evening prayers."

Then all was quiet, all was still
Around this holy knell,
And a golden moon above the trees,
Seemed to whisper, "all is well."

God bless our Notre Dame each night,
And her noble tasks to which she's given.
Far in twilight's golden peace,
To me, she seems a bit of heaven.

Faculty

"Behold ye live on high
And then on earth ye live again."

'Tis said that Merlin the wise and just, graced alway the goodly court of Arthur, when that king of merry England was the ruler. Much learned wast this ancient sage to whom the knights and ladies of the realm cameth when unresting doubt made their minds sore troubled. Of knowledge he hath such exceeding store as no man in that fair assembly hath ever yet attained. Other Merlins in other kingdoms have resided, so we in our goodly realm needs must have our faculty.

To the Sisters

Beloved ones, whose gentle hands have trained the vine,
On which our souls from infancy to womanhood
have grown.
As angel guardians you have beckoned us
the way,
To wisdom, truth, as the years have flown.

Dear Brides of Him whose beauty sun and moon
admire—
Today we come to whisper, thank you, and God bless you, too.
May angels, through the day, relieve your tasks,
And, through the night, keep silent vigil round you.

And at parting, we ask your blessing and a prayer,
And may your lives, fore'er reflect the glories that valiant women share.

Seniors

"I trust and am at peace."

Here beginneth the story of the seniors "and the light of victory and glory gained, and ever more to gain" for the measure of their joy is great and the trophy of their achievements is one, the which to them is very dear. For with Galahad they did ride, with Galahad they did seek, with Galahad they did find—the Cup of Attainment, their grail.

Juniors

"Truth speaking, brave, good, then we enrolled
Among us, and they sit with us in our hall."

Ne'er sat they at Camelot with the fellowship of the Table Round, ne'er occupied they with valour unmatched the Siege Perilous, ne'er grasped they the mighty Excalibur, ne'er thundered they with spirited charger to joust and tourney.

Yet say I, our chevalier doth rank with the most noble; forever equipt to traverse the great highway, ever armed with faith's mighty sword, ever clad in purity's mail, ever astride perseverance's steed, with the trappings of youth flaunting in the sunlight —doth our juniors carry onward.

The Lily Bud

Little bud so wond'rous fair,
I'll watch you with the greatest care.
Soon a lily you will be
The symbol of sweet purity.

I'll place you on the altar white,
Where you, a grand and beauteous sight,
Will add an atmosphere of prayer
In silent adoration there.

Sophomores

"The thrall in person may be free in soul,
And I shall see the jousts."

Sir Percivale hath passed, Sir Lancelot hath passed and Sir Galahad hath passed, but verily all of knighthood's champions hath not passed, there doth yet remain the sophomores. Like unto their predecessors they fain would be whole in spirit, noble in deed and right strong in valor.

Freshmen

"It is not permitted to know all things."

"I seem as nothing in the mighty world,
And cannot will mine will nor work
mine work,
Wholly, nor make mineself in mine own realm
Victor and Lord."

In sore distress thusly spake the Freshman Child. Wherewith did reply the Angel of Counsel, "Like the lissome Vivien thou art and verily thy words do sound of youth. A quest is thine to make and like unto the noble Galahad's thine a grail to attain, with four years thy vassalage.

Go forth then, for beyond labor's span doth await thee a cup of exceeding splendor."

Organization

"The old order changeth, yielding place to new."

One glistering day, as Arthur and his knights, staunch and brave, sat at the Table Round, lo! a heavenly creature of stately portent o'er them descended. And while they upon her gazed, she spake, "Receive ye these, and cherish them. Without them, this assembly will not endure. This apple signifieth peace, and this goblet, friendship." Eftsoones, the spirit vanished, but the fruit and the cup upon the table remained. By us also it hath been deemed necessary to found our organizationes on qualities such as these.

Organization

Notre Dame Organizations

When organizing our clubs last September, we had in mind definite aims which we endeavored to attain. Furthermore, we tried by this means to foster the spirit of true citizenship and good fellowship.

The slogan for organizations during the past term has been, "A club for every student." To insure efficiency in club activities, a larger number of clubs was formed with not more than twelve or fifteen students in each, except the Senior Glee Club. This plan of organization provided activity for each member of the club.

Senior English clubs under the direction of Sister Mary Denis, launched various successful movements. A contest, inaugurated in February against incorrect English, kept every freshman, sophomore, junior and senior busy. The Public Speaking Contest fired the ambition of every student. The Forest Essay Contest and the Lincoln Essay Contest were projects successfully carried out.

The Script Club wrote and enacted little playlets for various occasions; the Press Club furnished news items for NOTRE DAME NEWS; while the Reminder Club boosted campaigns, contests and various school activities.

Similarly, Sister Mary Kathleen made wide-awake organizations of the sophomore English clubs. The common aim of these clubs was to promote the use of better English and an appreciation of good books. The Pictorial and Story Hour clubs directed by Sister Mary Charles, kept in touch with the works of modern writers and masterpieces in art.

The Freshman English club, sponsored by Sister Mary Cyrilde, promulgated interest in the study of Shakespeare.

The senior social studies clubs, with Sister Mary Patrice as faculty advisor, are making social studies popular in the school. Their visits to the City Council meetings and attendance at court proceedings furnished considerable vitality. The freshman and sophomore travel clubs have broadened their interests in history by imaginary tours around the world under the chaperonage of Sister Mary Colombiere.

Foreign language clubs contributed their share to the good cause. The school's most renowned translators of Caesar have been vieing with Mussolini in their attempt to make Roman life and literature a present reality, with Sister Mary Inez acting as premier. "Buscadores de Libros" under the guidance of Sister Mary Ralph, have reached a higher degree of perfection in Spanish conversation during the past term.

The commercial world will be furnished with fifteen able recruits from the Commerce Club in June. Miss Ursula Burke, their director, furnished the momentum which caused their typewriting speedometers to register high.

The Music Club, directed by Mr. C. T. Firstos, the Glee Club under Sister Mary Marjory, and the Art Club with Sister Mary St. Margaret as guide, have furnished the aesthetic element in social life at Notre Dame.

The culinary art has also received due attention through the Home Economics Club under the leadership of Sister Mary Geraldine. The Athletic Association, the largest organization, with Miss Erma Lyle as coach and Sister Mary Patrice as faculty advisor, has completed a successful year as will be seen in the athletic section of this book.

Notre Dame Student Council

Beatrice Begley ..... President

Alice McCarrens ..... Vice-President

Ruth Robertson ..... Secretary and Treasurer

BY far the most important and most active organization at Notre Dame High School is the Student Council. During the past year, the second of its existence, it has functioned in a well-ordered manner.

The purpose of this organization is student participation in the supervision of disciplinary activities, and, incidentally, the formation of character which the assuming of responsibility fosters. The numerous duties of the Council are executed through the Service, Sanitation, Lunchroom and Usher Squads. Class and associate representatives are members of the organization and provide for the order and well-being of the various official rooms.

The efficiency and courtesy of the members of the Council have won for them the harmonious cooperation of the entire student-body, and the hearty commendation of the faculty.

The Reminders

COLLETA HART ..... President

GERALDINE KENNEDY ..... Secretary

IRENE MERRIMAN ..... Treasurer

THE Reminders do just what their name signifies, they "remind". Current competitions are kept fresh in mind and keyed up to action by the persevering, patient and persistent "reminding" of these young ladies. They paint posters, make jingles and decorate bulletin boards—in short, do anything to "remind" students to work for their Alma Mater.

Better English Club

MARGARET MCEVOY ..... President

BERNADINE DREES ..... Secretary

THIS group of girls became interested last September in an important project—improving the oral English throughout the entire high school. Despite the popularity of modern slang and the stout persistence of harsh colloquialisms, they, never daunted, organized themselves into a body imbued with a fighting spirit. They posted weekly on the bulletin boards in the English rooms, papers illustrative of correct and euphonic usage, and sponsored a successful campaign for the elimination of ungrammatical and common speech during the "Better Speech Week."

First row—top: M. A. Dowling, E. Duero, B. Begley, B. Schwab, R. Robertson, A. Carroll. Second row: C. Arth, M. Gensert, A. McCarrens, L. Arth.

The Prom Committee

ALICE MCCARRENS ..... Chairman

THE Union Club on the evening of February 3, was the scene of the crowning event of social activities at Notre Dame this year. Over 200 couples danced to the music of Stromberg and Vokoun. Leather card cases, which contained the programmes, were the favors for the girls, while each gentleman was presented with a package of cigarettes.

The dance was considered a social as well as a financial success and the profits were presented to Mother Superior as a token of appreciation from the class of '26. The chaperones included:

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Dowling
Mr. and Mrs. John S. McCarrens
Miss Irene Lutheran
Miss Ursula Burke
Miss Elizabeth Rees

Pictorial Club

ANNETTE GENSHEIMER ..... President
FRANCES BOGOVICH ..... Secretary
ELEANORE KUDERER ..... Treasurer

A NOVEL purpose is the outstanding feature of this Club. As their name implies their object is to foster interest in picture, and literature.

They have combined the twofold purposes cleverly by illustrating the poems and stories rendered at their meetings and thereby greatly heightened the impressiveness of their programs.

The Booklovers Club

MARY DEHEY ..... President

DOROTHY GLEESON ..... Secretary

THEIR enthusiasm augurs well for their future success. They "love" books, and consequently their aim is to revel in them. Games which they cleverly devised, similar to the one known as "Authors", were distributed among the various sophomore classes during the noon hour. These provided not only an immense amount of genuine pleasure but also, an appreciable appetite, on the part of the students, for the study of literature.

The club's social event of the year was the party given for the Authors, a sister-English Club.

First row—top: A. Kachmar, M. Pinta, M. Schwerzler, M. Dittenberger, D. Malone, H. Hatcher. Second row: M. Suhadolnik, F. Vidoni, Z. Antel, J. Lehrmayer, E. Hug. Third row: M. Kearney, H. Flory, E. Rini, L. Kestner, C. Kestner.

Authors Club

HELEN HATCHER ..... President
DOROTHY MALONE ..... Secretary
LUCILLE BAUERLE ..... Social Manager

CLOSELY allied in purpose to the Booklovers Club is the Authors Club whose aim it is to become acquainted with writers of Classical and Modern Fiction. The members have aroused a praiseworthy interest in literature by comparing the writers of modern and classical spirit and by preparing and reading to the English classes, reviews of books.

They returned the hospitality of the Booklovers Club by entertaining in the gymnasium.

Story Telling Club

MARY ERICKSON ..... President

ELEANOR LARECY ..... Secretary

THERESA LEDINSKY ..... Social Manager

"THEREIN lies a tale," say the Story Tellers, and. forthwith they apply themselves to the difficult art of story telling. Not only children's stories do they tell, but as variety is the spice of life, they entertain the older child and grown-ups as well.

They have supplemented their narratives with the dramatization of the old familiar tales of fairy lore. And, as they decided a bit of recreation was necessary, at the close of their literary career, a glorious June ramble concluded the activities for the year.

First row—top: A. McCarrens, A. Corrigan, M. C. Nolan, E. Wright, M. Gensert, L. Arth. Second row: C. Cullitan, B. Callinan, R. Robertson, J. Stein, M. A. Dowling.

Script Club

ETHEL WRIGHT ..... President
ALICE MCCARRENS ..... Secretary
JOHANNA STEIN ..... Treasurer

THE "Script" girls were sincere in their endeavors to stimulate interest in creative writing, and their achievements have been gratifying. The club president, Miss Ethel Wright, has written several playlets for the seniors, while other members, turning to poetry, have penned some interesting little bits, and still others have entertained their classmates with familiar essays. So much the club has done—stimulated interest in writing.

First row—top: A. Koenig, M. Weisbrod, B. Miller, M. Blank, H. Trares, D. Jirousek, D. Esper. Second row: M. Schario, M. Debesis, M. Scheel, B. Benich, F. Parcell.

The Shakespeare Club

MARY DEBESIS ..... President

HILDA TRERES ..... Secretary

A GROUP of eager little freshmen, hitched their literary wagons to a star when they formed the Shakespeare Club. Not daunted by the vast field of work they aimed to make a thorough study of the Bard of Avon and his works.

A difference in opinion in regard to the merits of Shakespeare's two Portias led to a heated debate held on April 15. This debate and various talks given by the members constituted the work of the club. However their plans are quite elaborate and their plucky spirit will lead, we wager, to the crystallization of their dreams.

Grammarian Club

EDNA O'HARA ..... President
CLARA HOOK ..... Secretary
ALICE HAGEN ..... Social Manager

THE well-known "Grammarians" need no introduction, at least not to sophomore students. They have been persevering in their efforts to improve the grammar of their classmates, and they have met with much success. Armed with an adequate knowledge of English grammar, they go about like "roaring lions" seeking the unwary.

The success of their campaign for the elimination of the so common slang expressions was greatly due to the hearty co-operation of the entire sophomore student body.

First row—top: M. Smith, D. Murray, M. Gallagher, E. Trubicza, E. Burns, J. Bland. Second row: M. Horan, H. Horvath, F. Roshetko, P. Giel, H. Levy, J. Doyle.

Story Hour Club

FLORENCE ROSHETKO ..... President
PHYLLIS GIEL ..... Secretary
JOSEPHINE DOYLE ..... Treasurer

THE Story Hour Club has striven to accomplish a twofold purpose: to broaden the literary outlook of the members, and to secure their co-operation in school activities.

To this end, they have appointed committees to prepare a program of short stories and brief biographical sketches for each meeting. Not wishing to keep their literary findings within the confines of the club, they have entertained the several sophomore English classes with plays and dialogues.

First row—top: M. Oakes, A. Erbeznik, G. Dettlebach, F. Kaker, M. Bozich, A. Wohlwend. Second row: P. Scharf, C. Terwoord, L. Hoshek, J. Carkling, E. Mzik, E. Stefancin. Third row: V. Bijek, A. Morando, C. Kreps, M. Miller, C. Stich, V. Brajdic.

Little Flower Verse Club

MARY ELIZABETH FOSTER ..... President

AGNES MORANDO ..... Secretary

AGNES WOHLWEND ..... Social Manager

ALMOST interesting sophomore organization is the Little Flower Verse Club whose aim is to study the Little Flower as an author and poet.

The members made an intense study of her "Autobiography." Creative work in verses with phases of the Little Flower's life as the theme has proved exceedingly original and interesting. Papers on the Little Flower, were read before the assembled Booklovers and Authors Clubs. All in all, they have succeeded in creating an unusual interest in the writings of Little Therese.

Caesorian Club

MARY ANDREWS ..... President

AGNES HOUCK ..... Secretary and Treasurer

AT first glance one might judge the Caesorians to be a group of Latin lovers, but such is not the case. For the Caesorian Club came into existence for the purpose of making ancient history more interesting. This, its fifteen freshman members, have admirably accomplished by giving interesting little dramatizations of famous historical events.

Informal talks of educational merit were given by the various members during the monthly meetings. while a study of current events relating to ancient history and the social sciences was also fostered.

Incidentally, we are hoping that the Caesorian Club will continue its good work next year and with the same splendid foresight, choose officers with the capabilities of those who have managed the club so well this past year.

First row—top: C. Svoboda, N. Rice, M. Davis, M. Schritz, M. Doyle, M. Joecken, L. McBride. Second row: M. Owens, L. Wuerthele, B. Begley, B. Schwab, B. Drees.

Roosevelt Club

BERNADINE DREES ..... President

BERNADETTE SCHWAB ..... Secretary

THE Roosevelts have chosen as their sponsor Theodore Roosevelt. His excellent pursuit of civic problems has inspired these members to public action. They intensify the interest of their club meetings with newspaper clippings and informal discussions on current topics. Many interesting travel talks have been given by the members of the club.

Judging from the noteworthy reports prepared, their trips through the city, especially to the Art Museum, have given them no small amount of pleasure.

First row—top: A. Gensheimer, F. Bogovich, C. Laszko, E. Mellert, P. Giel, J. Bland. Second row: M. Cherdron, D. Gleeson, I. Watson, E. Burns, M. Vintar, D. Gallagher.

The T. C. T. Club

PHYLLIS GIEL ..... President

DOROTHY GALLAGHER ..... Secretary

THE Twentieth Century Club aims to stimulate interest in the life and customs of foreign lands, and to induce its members to read books of travel. Instructive lectures have been given by members and imaginary visits, brimful of fancy and amusement, have been made to all parts of the world.

First row—top: D. Esch, A. Beljon, W. McEvoy, B. Callinan, F. Zulich, A. Lyman, E. Houck. Second row: I. Day, M. Filocco, L. Arth, M. A. Doyle, J. O'Connor, F. Currier. Third row: C. Arth, A. Corrigan, E. Kernan, A. McCarrens.

Historic Dramatic Club

ALICE MCCARRENS ..... President
DOROTHY ESCH ..... Secretary
RUTH HILL ..... Treasurer

"All the world's a stage,
And the men and women merely players."

SO speaks Macbeth, and so also speak an enthusiastic group of juniors and seniors who have set out to develop their innate talents. As a consequence, the Historic Dramatic Club has come into existence, and, as the name implies, the members have directed their efforts to both a dramatic and an historical end. True to their purpose they have rendered several programs of historical interest with unusual success.

The juniors are hoping to carry the banner of achievement into their senior year, and profiting by experience, they anticipate the accomplishment of even greater things.

First row—top: D. Murray, T. Hoban, M. Gallagher, L. Ruelle, R. Brenaman, D. Brunzlow. Second row: M. Horan, H. Horvath, F. Roshetko, F. Mukensnabl, H. Levy. Third row: M. Smith, P. Weisend, J. Doyle.

Stay at Home Travelers

JOSEPHINE DOYLE ..... President

FLORENCE ROSHETKO ..... Secretary & Treasurer

"My heart is warm with the friends I made
And better friends I'll not be knowing,
Yet there isn't a train I wouldn't take
No matter where 'twas going."

BOASTING of neither age nor tradition the Stay At Home Travelers continue to wax strong and promise to grow with the years. This club has met with success not only through its many lines of endeavor, but also through the hearty co-operation and zeal of its members.

Programs made up of songs, stories, games and folk-dances of foreign countries are presented at the regular meetings. Members who have visited noteworthy and interesting places have given the "Stay-at-homers" many ideas for their journeys. A scrap-book containing newspaper and magazine clippings, pictures, illustrative of talks given at the meetings, will be a record of the activities of these would-be nomads.

The Platonian Club

CATHERINE CULLITAN ..... President
HELEN DOWLING ..... Secretary
CATHERINE CARBERRY ..... Treasurer

THE Platonian Club was formed in December by twelve members of the senior history class for the purpose of gathering material on topics of historical and civic import. Stimulating articles on civic problems and current political affairs have filled the history bulletin boards.

Their dance, given in league with the Roosevelt Club, in Notre Dame Gymnasium on February 10, proved a notable success.

Emanon Club

ALICE MCNAMARA ..... President

FRANCES CAIN ..... Secretary

MARGARET SKELLY ..... Treasurer

THE Emanon Club is a Civic Club and aims to produce laboratory material for the civic classes. Several members of the club collect the scrap-books of all the classes at certain intervals and inspect them. Pamphlets secured from the State Department lend interest to their collection.

The fun connected with their "Bridge Tea" is one of the comic sheets in the "Memory Book" of this No-Name group.

Timely Topic Club

JOSEPHINE BROCK ..... President

LILLIAN KERN ..... Secretary

THE City Council Chamber and local lecture halls have been the rendezvous of the Timely Topic Club. Since its organization last November, the members have developed an absorbing interest in current problems.

They have "listened-in" at council meetings; they have attended lectures by men of note; and as a result, they have transformed their own meeting room into a veritable Roman Forum.

First row—top: R. Robertson, B. Duggan, M. A. Doyle, I. Merriman, L. Kerns, A. August, J. Klements. Second row: M. Engel, E. Donnelly, G. Kennedy, M. Normile, M. Hulligan, E. Donnelly. Third row: H. Gundlach, G. Reddy, M. Gensert, C. Colbert.

N. D. Commerce Club

MARY GENSERT ..... President

BERNICE DUGGAN ..... Vice-president

LILLIAN KERN ..... Sec. & Treas.

TO become conversant with modern business methods is the aim of the Notre Dame Commerce Club. At the semi-monthly meetings members work out Efficiency tests, Shorthand and Typing Speed drills. Of course the club is not all work. Their theater party was one of the most interesting socials of the Notre Dame "Club World."

Verba Latina Club

JANE VEACH ..... President

EDITH RINI ..... Secretary

ANOTHER club in the high school which has contributed its share toward high scholarship is the Verba Latina Club, organized for the purpose of increasing the vocabulary of Latin students. The members are steadily approaching their goal.

The unique "Roman Card Parties" which they have sponsored, have added competition, zest and frequently genuine merriment to their social meetings. These girls do not call Latin "dead."

THE Scriptores, an honorary sophomore Latin Club, was organized for the purpose of encouraging high scholarship among the second year students of Latin. To be a member of the society it is necessary to have maintained an average of A.

Reading and writing stories has done much to familiarize this little group with classical literature and Roman civilization.

THE Art Club, while in itself a separate organization, is a sister club to the Reminders. The Reminders' duty is to stimulate interest in contests; the Art Club abets this work by sketching features of the current competition. A constant display of posters has resulted, and a genuine spirit of co-operation and activity has been stimulated for every occasion, literary, athletic, and scholastic.

AS music is rapidly assuming an important role in modern education and culture, the organization of a High School Glee Club has become an indispensable asset. The student body of Notre Dame High School has, in past years taken an active part in this form of musical art, while the class of this year also has been well represented in the Glee Club.

In the first meeting, which took place in the month of October, officers were installed and a general plan of the year's activities was outlined. Altogether, the enjoyment derived from the weekly meetings was well worth the effort exerted by the members, and, that success has been attained, was evident in the final concert given in May.

ALTHOUGH the orchestra this year has decreased in size, it has, nevertheless, very noticeably improved in quality.

Mr. C. T. Firstos, the energetic and enthusiastic director, has kept this little corps of musicians well in the foreground. Every Wednesday afternoon their music resounds through the halls, and all our little school festivities are made merry by their melodies.

The girls composing the orchestra are the following: violins: Cecilia O'Brien, Collette Moore, Mary Duchoslav, Lottie Kowalska, Catherine Petras; cello: Helen Cantillon; piano: Genevieve Kearins; clarinet: Theresa Osberger; cornet: Lottie Cemba; trombone: Johanna Stein; drums: Anna Ott.

Home Economics Club

STEPHA JIROUSEK ..... President

BETTY MILLER ..... Secretary

WHEN organizing the Home Economics Club the members had in view three particular aims. First of all, they wished to develop skill in the "culinary art"; secondly, they desired to arouse interest in the improvements of living conditions, in the home as well as in the community; while their final aim was the development of a scientific attitude toward household activities.

With these high ideals in view the members have steadily endeavored to attain their good, as the lively interest manifested at the weekly meetings, well testifies. With the aid of information gleaned from domestic science magazines, the members have been enthusiastic in supplying each other with much practical knowledge and skill. In this way the Home Economics Club has proved itself to be an interesting and useful organization.

Memories

"Forsooth, 'twill be of a pleasure to recall these things."

A knight doth perform deeds, a gentlewoman doth cherish the deeds, and a child doth listen to memories. Not yet have we performed our deeds, not yet doth our merits score high, yet even so, we do hope. Memories we have to fondle, tender reminiscences we have to hold dear. Therefore them we do set down more in "love and glory" and them we do realize will glow forever in the hearts of those who are loyal servitors of Notre Dame.

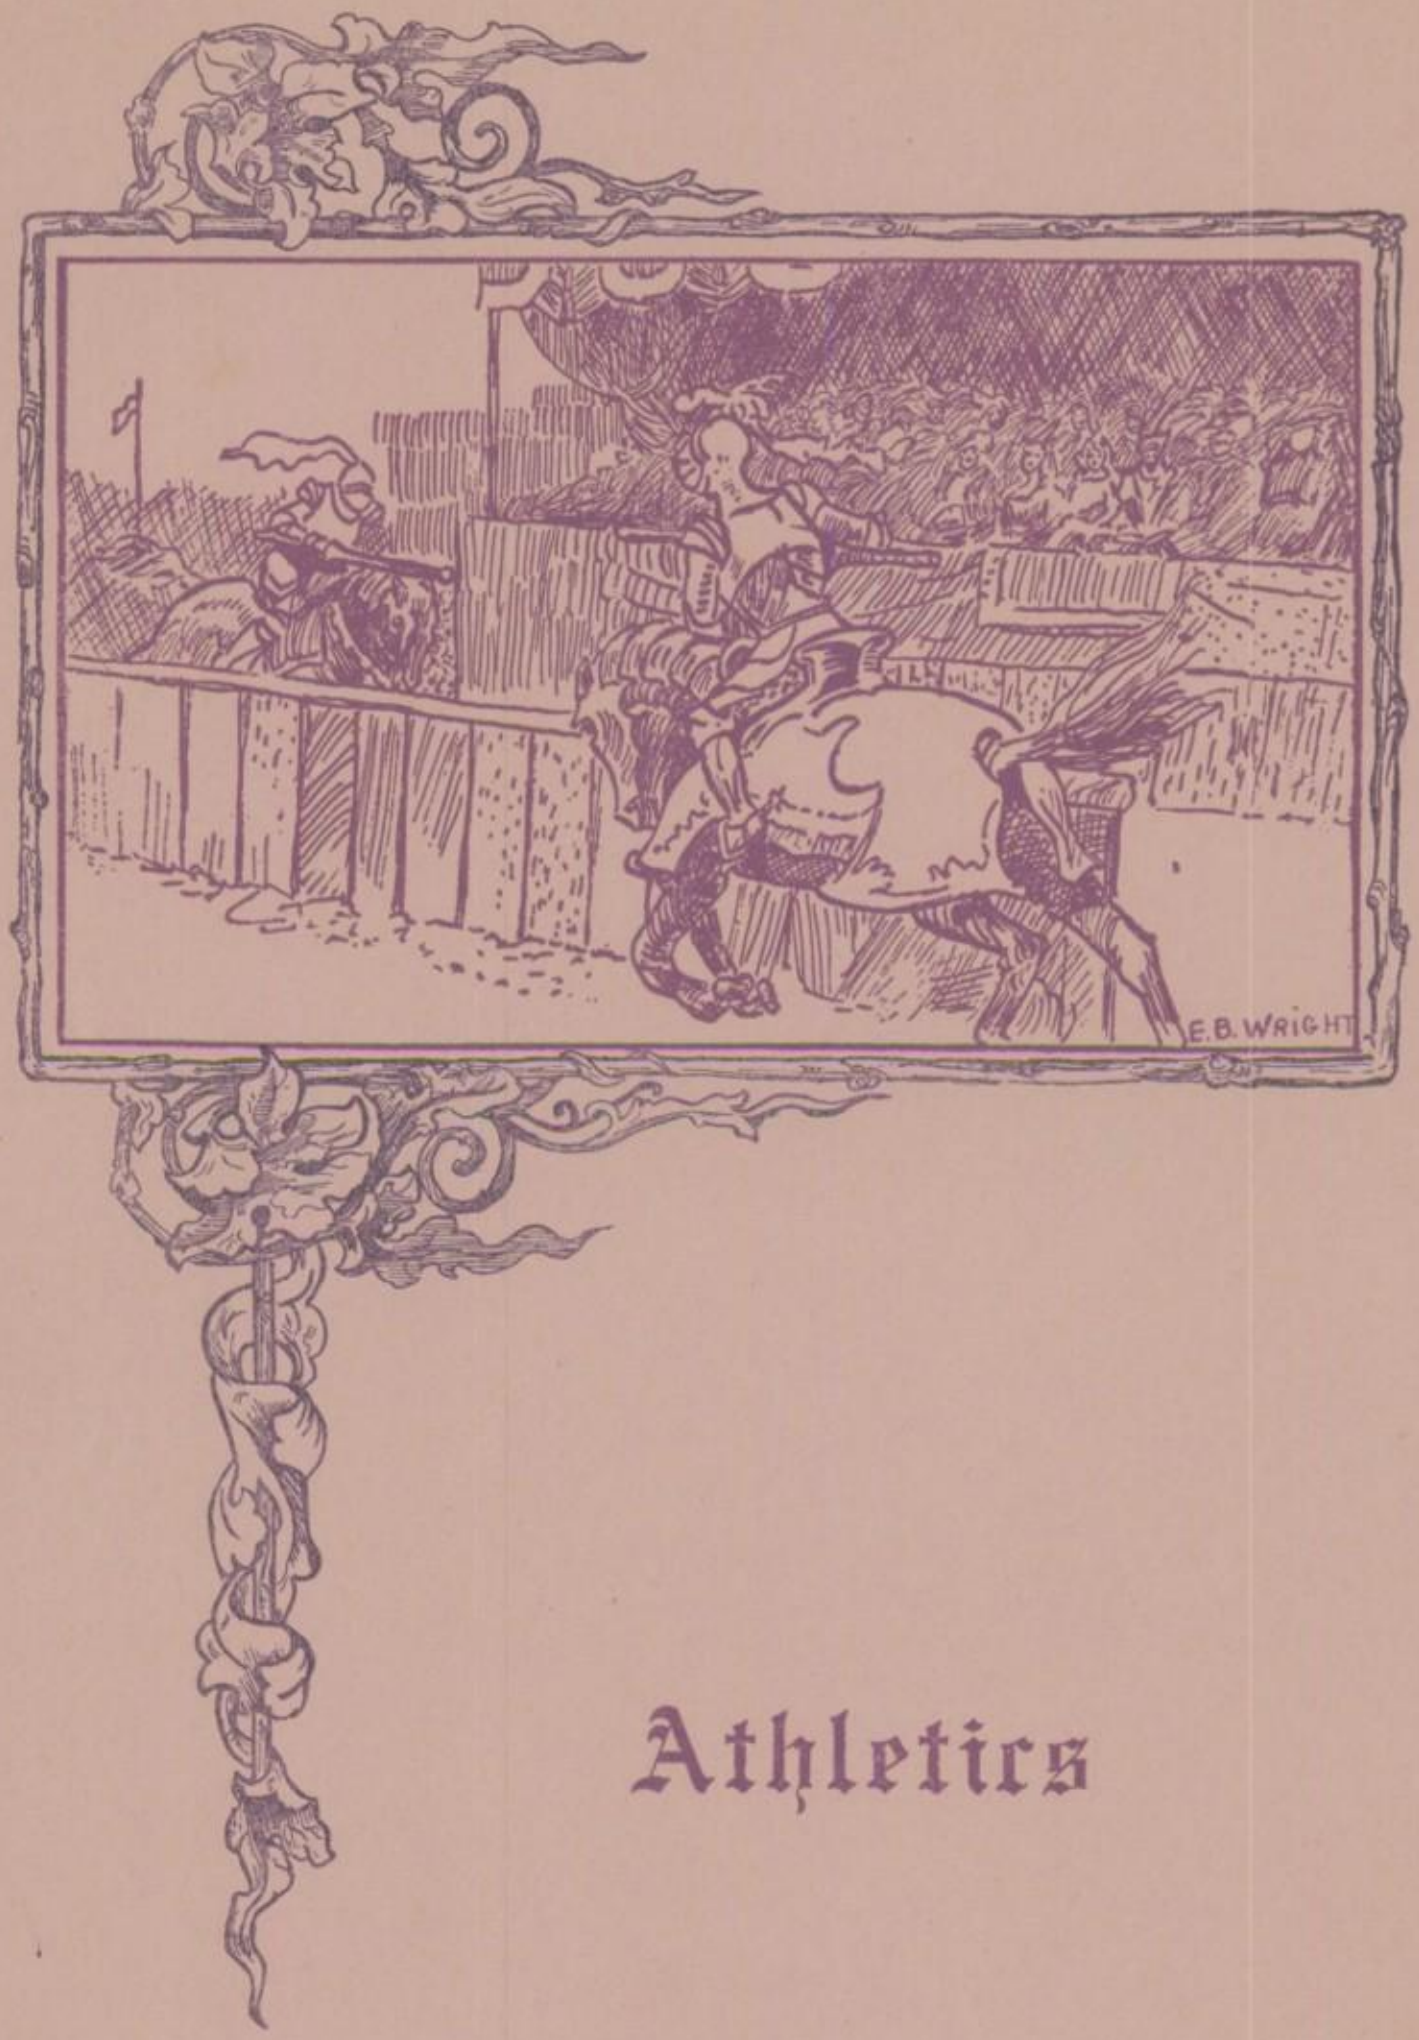
Athletics

"In rough magnificence arrayed
When ancient chivalry displayed,
The pomp of her heroic games."

Festal banners decked the balconies and ladies fair and charming graced them with their presence. Below, in the lists, heroes strove in martial combat. Round about, the populace entire cheered as they performed feats of strength and valour. Hence it is, that we have taken lessons from these ancients, and have e'er encouraged in this domain, the necessity of athletic powers. Too, we have realized the spirit of invigoration, the which is created by the zest of contest.



Athletics

Basketball

Americans are known for their speed, "the faster the better," seems to be the American slogan, so it is easy to see why they applaud a game that requires quick thinking and perfect body reaction.

Basketball is a game of shifting, of dodging here, of dribbling there and of perfectly placed passes. These are only a few of the things which keep the players mentally and physically alert. Of all the modern sports, basketball ranks among the cleanest.

To be an expert does not mean that the player must be a young Goliath. Some of our foremost professional and amateur players, who are of very slight build play the game with perfect ease. Perhaps this is the reason it holds such a prominent place in girls' schools. Both the faculty and student body have united in declaring it a thoroughly wholesome and entertaining sport, which strengthens body and mind and arouses in the student the keenest school spirit.

The girl who learns this game well also learns to be a stalwart friend; hand in hand with this goes genuine good sportsmanship. Only those of you who have, sometime or other, belonged to a team have experienced the ties of friendship it engenders.

What the world needs today is quick thinkers and people who can act on their own initiative. Perhaps this is why so many of our American universities, colleges and high schools approve of and promote BASKET-BALL.

MISS ERMA LYLE

Miss Erma Lyle embodies everything that is necessary for a true athlete. After graduating from Kingsley High School, Iowa, she continued her studies at Oberlin majoring in Physical Education. Taking her degree in 1920, she became coach at College for Women, Western Reserve University for three years, and, in the fall of 1923 came to us.

In the year of 1924 our Alma Mater turned out the best interscholastic team that ever played on the Notre Dame floor. The following year interscholastic work was abandoned for inter-class games, and under the inspiring leadership of Miss Erma Lyle enthusiasm ran higher than in the preceding year. At present inter-class games are still in progress with interest keyed even to a higher pitch. Today, Notre Dame is stamped with a spirit of sportsmanship for which she will always be known.

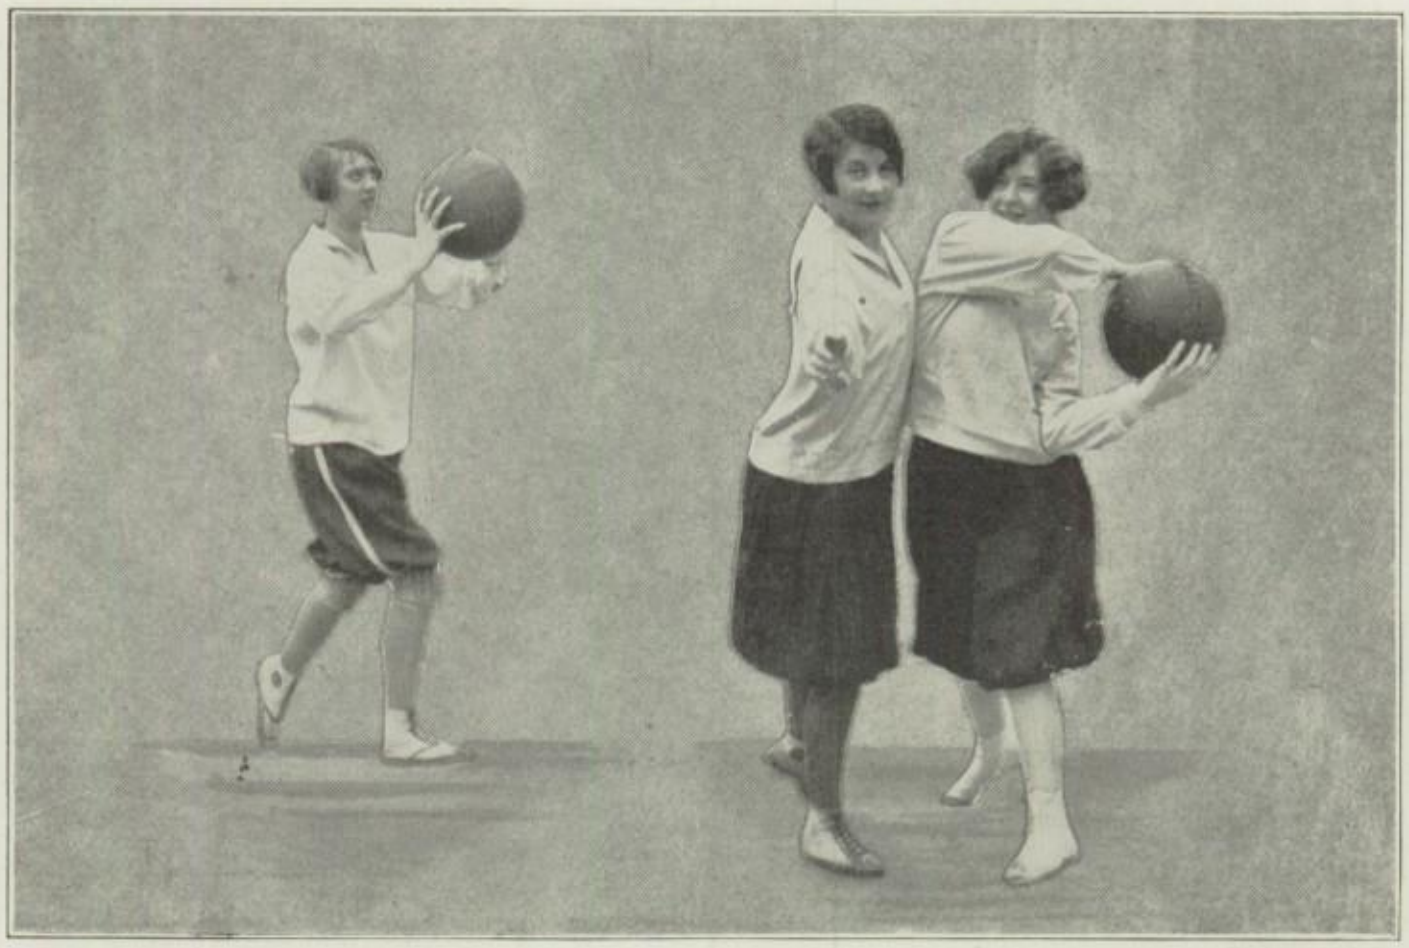
"Yea! team! Let's go"!! That's the ever ready cry of the Athletic Association, one of the oldest and most active organizations of the school. They have sponsored basketball games which have been swiftly moving panoramas of flying figures and a ball. All of the contests, intra-mural as they were, have been skillfully played and untainted by hostility.

The Athletic Association has given two social functions during the past year; the party in January, during which the teams were named, and the banquet, held at the close of the basketball season. During the latter, the seniors, champions of the season, were presented with cleverly designed pins.



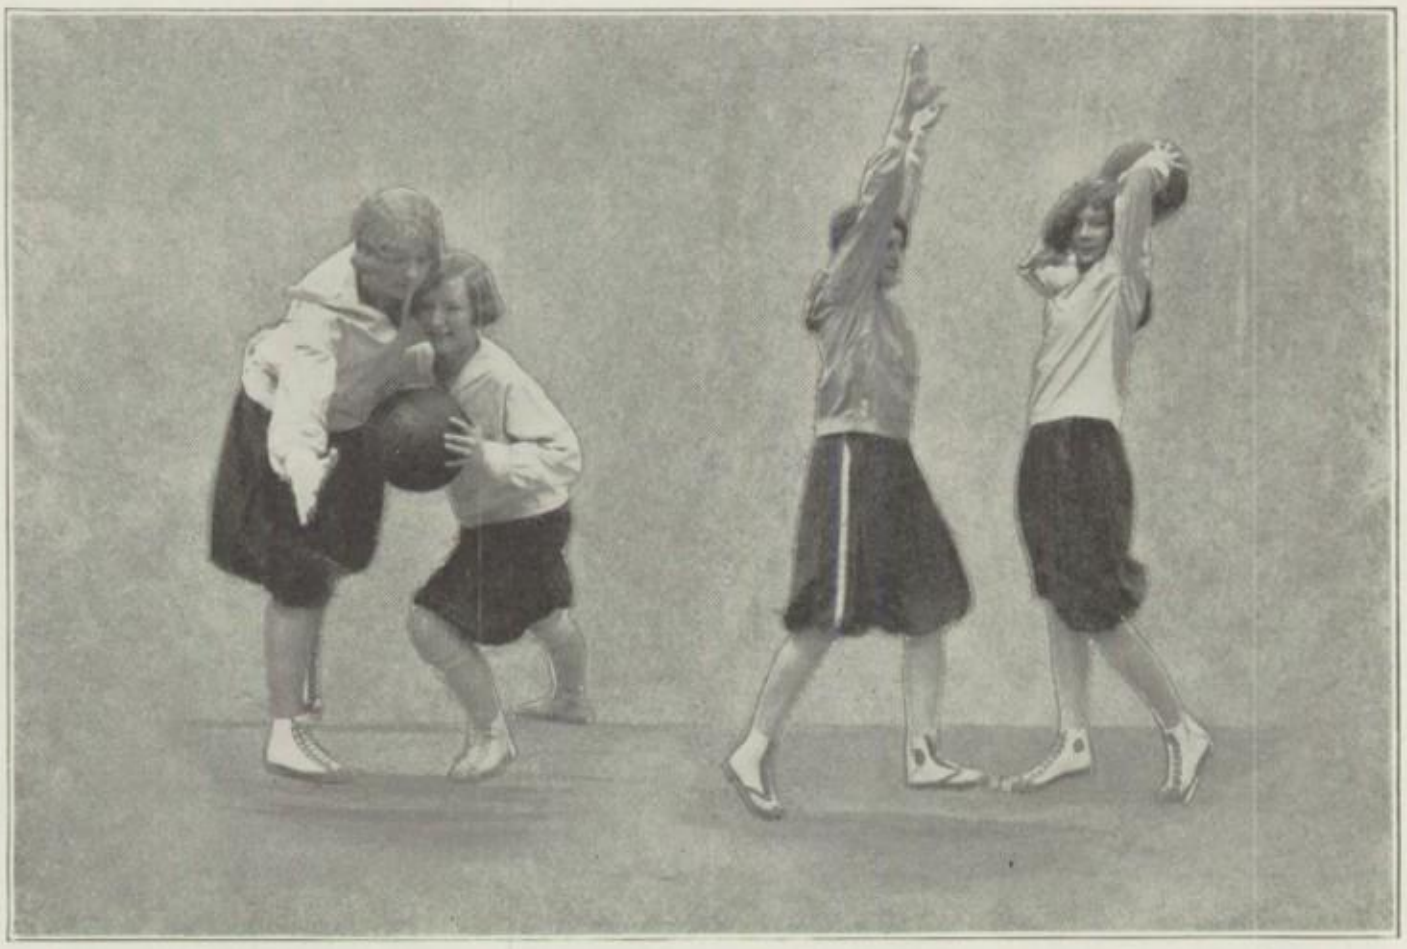
E. Lowekamp J. Brock M. C. Nolan

The Players

Ellen Lowekamp has jumped at center on the championship teams for three years and has finished her athletic career at N. D. A. in a blaze of glory by leading the Senior Class through another successful season. Ellen proved her worth, winning a position on the Varsity team in her sophomore year. She is often acclaimed the best all round basketball player that has ever won the N. D. monogram.

"Jo" Brock plays a guard position in the fashion that would bring joy to the heart of any coach. She knows all the mechanical tricks of guarding, and besides, is able to diagnose plays before they are fairly under way. Her ability to take the ball off the backboards and return it to the centers is remarkable. The opposing forwards have very few opportunities at open shots when "Jo" is in the game. This is also her second year with the team.

Mary Catherine Nolan, a daughter of Erin with a propensity for tossing the sphere through the meshes, played a forward on this winning team. She also is a veteran of two seasons, having played with the squad in her junior year. She led the scorers throughout this year's battles with sixty tallies chalked up to her credit.



C. Cullitan F. Logar M. R. Shea G. Kennedy

"Taffy" Cullitan, was an instrumental factor in many of the victories by her work at guard or center. The improvement in her playing since the beginning of the season is almost unbelievable. She is ever on the go, bubbling over with that aggressive spirit which is so important in winning battles. Because she is called "Taffy" does not mean that she is slow, on the contrary, she is most active.

To "Frannie" Logar, the diminutive side center who pairs with Ellen Lowekamp, much of the success of the past two seasons is due, not only because of her competent but also because of her reliable playing. The stabilizing influence which her presence in the line-up creates, has guided the team to victory through many exciting frays.

Mary Rita Shea made her debut into basketball circles during her sophomore year. She is equally at home at either a forward or guard position. Most of her endeavors, however, have been defensive and how well she succeeded in these is evidenced in the number or rather lack of number of defeats that the team has suffered.

"Jerry" Kennedy is our left forward. Through her scintillating floor work and passing, her teammate is offered many opportunities for caging. When a basket is most needed we find her ever ready with a shot that invariably proves successful. She has played a conspicuous part in winning the championship for her class in '25 and '26.

SENIORS' REGRETS

We feel quite sad that so many people have been misinformed about the interpretation of the N. D. S. S. on the armbands worn by some seniors. Some believe it to mean "Notre Dame Service Squad," while its true signification is, "Notre Dame Side Show."

FOR FRESHMEN ONLY

Take heed that you follow in the wake of the class ahead, especially in the religion class. Sophomores have left a specimen of wisdom, which they bid you to excel.

Question in written quizz: Name a commandment of the Church.

Sophomore: To contribute to the support of our pastor and. . . . perish!

MR. FIXIT

"Tinkle, tinkle, tinkle," sounded a silvery bell. "Tinkle, tinkle," resounded through the forest. The boy seated on a decayed log looked up and gazed in the direction of the sound. Presently, through a path of trees there came a man—an old man heavily laden with stuff—just stuff.

He was short and round. Fur leggings, moccasins, skin jacket, feather cap—he was an odd combination of Indian, pioneer and Peter Pan. He limped along until he came to the staring boy.

"Good mornin', boy, nice mornin' eh wat?"

"Yes sir, yes, I guess so, come to think of it, it does seem to be a rather nice mornin'."

"Come to think of it, eh? What might the other matter be that ye failed to see this beautiful mornin'?"

"'Oh, sir," sobbed the boy, "My heart is broken, yes it is, it's broken. Boohoo!"

"Ho, ho, broken is it? Well we can soon mend that."

"You can? You can fix a broken heart? How—say, who are you anyway?"

"Mr. Fixit, at your service, sir, fixes anything from a broken heart to broken slumber."

"Yes?"

"Yes, indeed, young man. See this?" and he held up a large piece of silvery metal. "That's to make a whole moon out of a quarter moon. And this 'a rolled up band of vari-colored ribbon' is to fix up the sky after a storm. People call it a 'rainbow' but I call it my 'sunshine restorer.' And what you see here 'a fleecy gray veil' is for repairing rifts in clouds after a cloudburst. This 'unfolding a long panorama of pictures' is the resume of a dream. I fix up endings for broken dreams but only for happy ones. Nightmares I break up and I often substitute contented dreams for them.

"And then, also, I am the friend of many a happy family, I can very easily fix the break in a discontented family and make it quite a happy family again. Oh, yes, oh yes indeed, I'm quite clever at that. I even mended Humpty Dumpty once, but he spoilt it all. He fell another time and just completely demolished himself. So after that I refused to have anything to do with him. Oh yes. And then, Hamlet's father's ghost. You've heard of him, haven't you? Well, I fixed him up too. You see, the old spirit somehow or other had his slumber broken and took to wandering about the palace and just about frightened every one out of his wits. Not that they had so very many, but then you see there were some members of the family, not mentioning any names, who had guilty consciences and so when I was called upon I thought it was best for all concerned that I fix up the old gentleman's slumbers. That I did and the old fellow is still slumbering. And old Mr. Midas who had the gold fever. Well, I cured him of that and fixed another happy life. Oh, yes, oh yes indeed. But what's this? Rain? Oh, I say, may I share your umbrella me lad? Mine seems to be somewhat—ah—er—broken."

J. Stein, '26.

FROM A TINY SENIOR

I carry books,
  Wear glasses too,
But seem grown up
  To very few.

I try to make
  The new girls gay,
But every time
  They're sure to say
"Oh! you are just
  A freshie too,"
I'm mighty glad to have met you.

Just can't see why
  I seem so slow
With years of work
  And all I know

But just the same
  It's lots of fun
To appear a freshie
  In seniordom.

"By blast and courier is he proclaimed."

The queen and her comely dames languished on the palace sward. Laughter hath died away and naught there seemed to do. Forsooth, with joyful cry the fair Enid lightly stood. A horseman she descried, the which them was nearing with speed. 'Ere long, he before them halted. He sate his steed one moment, then dismounted. A vender from afar he was. Wares from countries strange he them showed and their gold they traded for his stuffs. Today, this sturdy merchant comes once again to ye, good friends, and presents to ye for your patronage his collection.
